

FEEL

AND

map of the Dniester river in Eastern Europe

TOUCH

This map by Zoi environment network is a contribution to an international effort to support Ukraine and Moldova in jointly managing their shared Dniester river. Besides being used in numerous reports and publications, the map is also 'carved in stone' on nearly fifty information boards mounted along the Dniester from its source to the mouth. Hopefully this will help people of the basin better understand and appreciate their common heritage, thus in the end turning environmental information into action.

The project www.dniester.org is part of the international Environment and Security initiative www.envsec.org.

